W. E. Hulse, B. H. Newlin and A. W. Riches, of the Santa Fe surveying corps, with headquarters at Las Vegas, were here yesterday, going south to Socorro last night.

Engine No. 201, with Engineer Pease at the throttle, broke down at Barr's station yesterday morning while going south with the local freight, and is now in the shops for repairs.

Brakeman Jim Connelly, of Raton, who was injured about four weeks ago, has resigned from the service of the company and is now threatening a law suit for damages it is reported.

Joseph Donovan has gone to Alamogordo to take a position with the El Paso & Northwestern. He was in the employ of the Santa Fe at San Bernardino, and came in from the west Saturday.

The Raton Reporter says: Fireman Roll Follenwider has resigned his position to engage in business, having rented a store room in the Mendelson block where he will conduct a billiard hall.

N. M. Rice, assistant general storekeeper of the Santa Fe, is showing courtesies to L. D. Smith, who is in the city. Mr. Smith is the superintendent of machinery of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe.

It is rumored about that one of the officials of the Choctaw road will be here in a few days to size up the city. He should be given a royal welcome and the people of Albuquerque should talk business to him.

Superintendent Ayres, of Dodge City, has a new gasoline motor car, two seated, and capable of making thirty-five miles an hour on good track. He will use it in making tours of inspection over his division.

Mrs. C. H. Young, who came in from Denver last Saturday night, will remain among former friends here for a few days. She is the estimable wife of the popular division superintendent of Wells-Fargo Express company.

The Rio Grande Railway has out a brochure entitled "Camping in the Rocky Mountains." It contains much of interest and instruction to the tent-foot camper, but we fail to notice a keg or jug in any of the illustrations.

W. A. Barton, agent of the Santa Fe railway at Silver City, has been promoted to the Deming agency. C. W. Merrihew, chief clerk at the local freight depot, has been promoted to the Silver City agency. The change will be made on April 1.

Ben Johnson, superintendent of machinery for the Mexican Central, who has been in Topeka about two weeks, will leave at once for New York, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson. There he will look after matters in connection with his position.

George W. Andrews, traveling passenger agent for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad at Fort Worth, Texas, has been promoted to general agent at Colorado Springs. Mr. Andrews was formerly city passenger agent of the Rock Island in Kansas City.

Reports from the construction camps on the El Paso & Southwestern railway, between El Paso and Deming, say that smallpox is raging among the workmen. The disease is very mild, however, and it is said that some of the workmen scarcely quit work, although they are broken out with it.

G. W. Smith, who was in the city the other day, gave it out as solid fact that he is no longer connected with the Santa Fe railway as general master mechanic of the coast lines. He has returned to San Bernardino, Cal., and reports now say that he will hereafter devote his time to boring for oil.

Engineer W. H. Holmes, who is the only survivor of the train crew on No. 4 that figured in the train wreck at Franconia last fall, has just been released from the hospital at Los Angeles. When Mr. Holmes was taken from the tangled mass of debris he was unconscious and remained in that condition for eight days.

Vice President Warren, of the Central railroad of New Jersey, is making a tour of inspection of the entire Choctaw system. One report states that it is for the purpose of the purchase of the Choctaw by his company, and another that the New Jersey company is to take the $13,000,000 extension bonds recently voted by the Choctaw.

Work has begun on the new Harvey house at Ratoon, which is to replace the one recently burned. It will be much larger and more complete than the old house. It will be furnished with all the conveniences of a modern eating house, furnishing first class accommodations to the traveling public.

Charles Owen, conductor on No. 4, witnessed the lynching of the negro porter at La Junta on Tuesday night. The tragedy occurred within fifty feet of Mr. Owen's window. He says the negro was not hanged. He didn't have a chance to hang. His body was filled with lead before the rope was drawn taut enough for strangulation.

The resignation of General Superintendent W. S. Martin and M. H. Rogers of the engineering department of the Denver & Rio Grande has been followed by the announcement of a third change. Clifton L. Thompson, bridge engineer, and in charge of bridges and buildings of the Denver & Rio Grande, will voluntarily leave the service of the road either April 1 or shortly thereafter.

Brakeman Joe Burke was thrown through a caboose window near Elita, by the drawbar breaking in one of the freight cars three cars from the caboose. The train was going about eighteen miles an hour and Mr. Burke was skinned and bruised pretty badly, although it is thought not seriously. He could not finish his run and was brought to Albuquerque for medical attention.

Definite assurance has been given by those in position to know that the Santa Fe Railway company will build from Thereon, a station on the Santa Fe Pacific in McKinley county, to Durango, Colo. The road is to be run through Canon Amarillo but is to be a separate project from the proposed Durango-Cotton railroad. It will, however, also tap the fertile San Juan, Animas and La Plata valleys.

Locomotive 578, one of the new compounds turned out a few months ago by the Baldwin locomotive works at Philadelphia, has been set into the south shop at Topeka for general overhauling. There are a number of the same class that are reported in bad order and will be fixed up as soon as the machinists can get after them. They have been in service out of La Junta, Colo., for some time.

Clarence Teneyk has been appointed superintendent of the Pecos Valley system of the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Amarillo, Texas. He takes the place made vacant by the recent transfer of G. C. Starkweather to Arkansas City as trainmaster of the Oklahoma division. Mr. Teneyk was formerly located at Newton, Kan., as trainmaster's clerk and assistant yardmaster, and later at La Junta and then Albuquerque.

President Carpenter, of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, accompanied by his estimable wife and daughter, arrived in the city from the west Saturday night and left this morning in his private car attached to No. 2. Mr. Carpenter and family have been visiting points of interest in California and are on their way home. They spent the afternoon in driving about the city, and spoke of Albuquerque and its climate in very complimentary terms.

The Topeka State Journal says: Albuquerque papers have contained accounts within the last few weeks of the victories which the Santa Fe Pacific baseball team at that place are winning. Among the line up are names of George Thompson, who was formerly employed in the boiler shops here and who is holding down first base, and his brother "Ash," who wears the mask and protector. Chas. Sheets, who used to be in the machine shop at this place, is twirling for the nine.

The Las Vegas Record says: Seven young fellows were arrested last night at the instance of the Santa Fe watchman for breaking a seal, and slept in jail over night. This morning they were up before Judge Wooster and, after hearing their story he discharged them. They said they did not break a seal, but got in through an open door at Albuquerque and were later locked in. They were fairly well dressed and Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c. size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists sell by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

DIRECT SEABOARD OUTLET.

Former President of the Santa Fe at the Head of a Syndicate That Will Open Up Rich Territory.

A special dispatch from Pittsburgh, Pa., under date of March 30, says: A new seaboard outlet from Pittsburgh, the Chesapeake Western railway, is assured, according to the statement issued by Joseph W. Reinhart, formerly president of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe, and who is now at the head of the syndicate which is furthering the project. Mr. Reinhart says:

"It is not generally known, but it is a fact that before the Pennsylvania Railroad company secured control of tide water traffic through the purchase of the Baltimore & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio a number of men quietly took up the project for the construction of a line of railway from the Ohio river through the northern west Virginia coal fields and Virginia to the Atlantic coast. This enterprise has been carried forward and has now a foundation upon which the whole structure will shortly be erected."

"This project is known as the Chesapeake Western railway. It begins at Gloucester Point, or York Harbor, Va., where a large increase of land for a tidewater terminal has been bought. The line runs northwesterly and westwardly, taking in the Chesapeake & Western railway twenty-seven miles built and in operation in the Shenandoah valley, Virginia, which is owned by the syndicate, through 100 miles of the coal fields of West Virginia to a point near Parkersburg."

"The construction work on over 100 miles of the line westwardly through the Shenandoah and Allegheny mountains into West Virginia is now under way. Fourteen miles of track laid and over half of the entire line has been surveyed and located, estimates of construction made, the men and arrangements are now being completed for general construction."

"The line is in no sense a parallel road with any existing railroad, but opens up new and prolific territory throughout its length."

"The greatest care is exercised by the owners to secure an ocean tidewater terminal that would be in every respect suitable for handling the large traffic of the trunk line railway and Gloucester Point was selected."

"It is of much significance that the western terminus of this project is at Parkersburg, W. Va., to which city a line is now being built by the Goulds, from a connection with the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Zanesville. It is also significant that George J. Gould, head of the Gould interests, spent a week at Gloucester Point last summer and is thoroughly in touch with the whole situation."

Chronic Bronchitis Cured. "For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Joseph Coffman, of Monticello, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar and all praise with satisfaction." Alvarado Pharmacy.

JAPS ON A STRIKE. Santa Fe Track Hands Quit Work at Victor, Cal.

Fifty-two track layers and graders of the Japanese variety, walked out of the employment of the Santa Fe at Victor last week, creating one of the first strikes of its kind on the coast, says the San Bernardino Sun. The railroad people contemplate the oncoming of Jap labor on this division in favor of Mexican road men. The little men heard of this and resolved to resort to the measures usually adopted by their white brothers, which was to strike. They talked the matter over with the boss Jap, and the result was a complete walkout. Already many of the men are beating their way into the valley, one of them being so unfortunate as to have his leg taken off by a Santa Fe train near Colton Wednesday.

Base Ball Yesterday. The Old Town Tigers and the Santa Fe Pacific boys crossed bats yesterday afternoon at the fair grounds and treated a large crowd of spectators to a pretty good exhibition of ball playing. The Tigers won the game by the score of 3 to 5. The day was an ideal one for the national sport, and although the score was rather one-sided from the start, interest in the game never lagged for a moment, and some of the enthusiasts even forgot all about the horse races. The battery for the Old Town team was Laws and Chaves, while Gilpin and Shepard filled these points for the shop boys. Snapper Hale officiated as umpire. The shop lads are still firm in the belief that they can beat the Tigers and are anxious for another game, which will probably be arranged for next Sunday.

The Great Dismal Swamp. Of Virginia is a breeding ground of malarial germs. So is low, wet or marshy ground everywhere. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous maladies. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and malaria troubles. They will surely prevent typhoid. "We tried many remedies for malaria and stomach and liver troubles," writes John Charleston of Hivesville, Ohio. "But never found anything quite so good as Electric Bitters." Try them. Only 50 cents at all druggists. Guaranteed satisfaction.

Hon. Nicholas Galles, who has just taken charge of the office of register of the United States land office at Las Cruces, expects to take his family to reside in that town. Mr. Galles has been an invalid for several years and is now with their two daughters in Minnesota for the benefit of their health.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

THE FULL PARTICULARS.

The Citizen has published several articles regarding the recent tragedy at Clayton, Union county, in which John R. Guyer shot and killed W. E. Searles, but the full particulars of the terrible tragedy are as follows, clipped from the Clayton Enterprise:

"Never before in its history has Clayton been shocked and startled as it was Wednesday at about 12:45 o'clock, when a perfect roar of gun reports was heard to issue from the postoffice on Main street. The day was a perfectly beautiful one, and it being the noon hour everything was an unusually quiet as the Sabbath, when the shooting commenced. After the succession of reports had emanated from the postoffice building, W. E. Searles was seen to limp out of the front door and fall just off the sidewalk, as he had received two bullet wounds that shattered the bone in the right leg. Falling in a sitting posture, he grasped his pistol, a Colt's 45, in both hands and fired one more shot at John Guyer, who by this time had disengaged with his revolver and was entering the front of the postoffice from behind the partition with a Winchester in his hands. Guyer pushed his Winchester out of the front door twelve or fourteen inches and fired two shots, the last taking effect in Searles' right side passing through the liver and intestines and out through the left side. This last was the fatal shot. Hardly had the firing ceased, before Mrs. Searles, who only lived a short distance from the scene, appeared running across the street, and her pitiful cries and moans would have wrung a heart of stone. Mr. Searles was removed to his home, and a messenger was dispatched for Dr. North & Charlton, but he was breathing his last when they arrived."

"The cause of the tragedy is without a parallel. Evidence goes to show that Guyer had written a pamphlet entitled, 'Elna, or The Lady From Hell,' in which he gives a most accurate and minute description of Mrs. Searles' personal appearance in 'Elna,' the principal character; tells of her birthplace, travels of herself and husband, and winds up with a history of how these people made their first appearance in a little border town of New Mexico. To read the book is like wading through a sewer, being a veritable cesspool of slime. Mr. Searles came in possession of the book and went to the postoffice with the intention of avenging the wrong, but missed his mark every time he fired, and was himself killed, though he emptied his revolver at his antagonist. Guyer was immediately taken in charge by the officers and was allowed bail in the sum of $10,000."

"W. E. Searles, the deceased, was born at Coldwater, Mich., August 14, 1868, and was married to Miss Ella McKinnis eleven years ago in the state of Illinois, while he was in the employ of a St. Louis telephone company. He and his wife came to Clayton five years ago, where they have since continued to reside, and by their frugal thrift had just finished paying for a little home. He was a quiet, unassuming man who had a reputation for attending to his own business, and was considered a good citizen. He leaves, besides his wife, a mother and sister, both of whom reside in Michigan."

"The funeral took place from the home Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A large crowd of people followed the remains to the grave."

John R. Guyer has lived in Clayton for six or seven years, where he has been engaged in the service of law. He was a member of the territorial legislature in 1899, and was appointed postmaster at this place during the second administration of the late President McKinley."

STATEHOOD BILL DELAYED.

Speaker Henderson Said to Be Opposed to Omnibus Measure.

A dispatch to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat from Washington says: Mr. Knox, of Massachusetts, chairman of the house committee on territories, stated that he had almost completed his report upon the bill granting statehood to Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, but that he would not present it to the house until he had held a conference with Speaker Henderson. Advocates of statehood legislation have been informed that the speaker is opposed to the measure and that he was much disappointed when it was announced that the committee had decided upon a favorable report."

Speaker Henderson has refrained from expressing an opinion on the bill, but it is generally accepted that he is opposed to the measure. The delegates who have been making a canvass of the house have become convinced that the speaker's attitude of hostility, although not pronounced, is having its effect in members who are guided largely by the wishes of the house leaders. These members have declined to commit themselves on the measure, although none of them have openly declared their intention of opposing the bill. Enough republican votes have been pledged to secure the passage of the bill by the house, with the support of the democrats, who are unanimous in their support of the measure."

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement. Robert J. Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked: "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more gentle and mild in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. They cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a normal condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. For sale by all druggists.

AGENT WALPOLE'S SALARY.

It Was Left Out of the Indian Appropriation Bill by a Misunderstanding.

Indian Agent Walpole, of Pueblo, who is stationed in New Mexico, is at Washington. Mr. Walpole's salary was left out of the Indian appropriation bill which passed the house and which is now in the Indian committee of the senate, and he has been in conference with the Indian commissioner and members of the Indian committee in reference thereto. The item was left out of the bill through a misunderstanding and it is understood will be inserted in the bill by the senate committee.

Her Son's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Baker, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

The Encampment. The committee in charge of the Grand Army encampment, which will be held here on April 19 and 21, is trying to arrange for a parade the first day. The White Oaks delegation will come overland and the Santa Fe delegates may do the same by riding over in an old army ambulance. The committee is trying to raise money to hire a band and meet them. Tonight the committee will meet at J. W. Edwards' parlors at 7:30 to arrange the program for the camp fire.

Hotel Clerk, Watch and Money Missing. John C. Murray, who has been clerk and bookkeeper at the Hotel Ecklund, Clayton, N. M., for the past two weeks, failed to report for duty Thursday morning at the regular time. A careful search of the town failed to bring him to light. The hotel safe was opened and the books examined. It was found that about $200 of the hotel's money, also a gold watch that had been left in the safe, were missing.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough. Mrs. Ellen Harrison, of 209 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives." Refuse substitutes. Alvarado Pharmacy.

Good for Rheumatism. Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. THE SECOND LECTURE.

The Competitive System Analyzed and Impeached by Mr. Wilson.

Rev. J. Stitt Wilson delivered the second address on socialism last night at Colombo hall. The house was packed to the doors. His theme was, "The Competitive System Analyzed and Impeached."

In opening he reviewed the points of the previous evening's address, especially pointing out that in the evolutionary process man, by virtue of his intelligence, has the power to change, modify, reform or revolutionize any social or industrial conditions that are not conducive to the highest human welfare.

"As socialists, then," said the speaker, we contend that the present competitive system, when analyzed to its foundations, is found to be unjust in its basis, unchristian in its operation and positively inhuman and criminal in its results and its inevitable outcome. Therefore it is our business as intelligent men and women to abolish it, to overthrow it, and to establish in its place a social system based on justice and adapted to an age of mighty machinery and practical brotherhood."

Mr. Wilson then proceeded to show the four essential elements of the competitive system as follows:

1. Under the present system—or struggle for existence as how organized—every man must seek his own individual welfare, push his own business, and seek to extend it, hold his own job against all competitors.

2. And every thing by which all of us live is open to the limitless private ownership of any man or group of men, and trusts, monopolies or combinations, which have the business ability to secure them under the lawful methods of trade or business.

3. In the struggle for existence, the struggling multitudes show vast inequalities in their industrial and financial ability. Psychologists have proved that about 90 per cent of the people have an average capacity for labor, industry and getting a living. Only about 2 per cent are geniuses in any respect. Only about 2 per cent possess unusual ability as financiers.

4. Now the whole struggle may be compared to a huge game, played for bread and for life by men of vastly differing powers, by women also, and even the little children. And since everything is open to the private ownership of the best player, and since only about 2 per cent are expert players, it inevitably follows that the 2 per cent eventually become the owners, organizers, and controllers of the means by which the rest live. The game of the competitive struggle is now almost played. Already 90 per cent of the people control more than all the rest, while 40,000,000 of the people are propertyless in the census meaning of that term. Thus the capitalist class are the private owners of the means of livelihood, while the producing classes must work when the capitalist class permit them, and at what they offer them, and then in turn the producing classes must buy back the stuff their own hands made, at trust and combination prices. Thus labor is robbed of its produce both as producer and consumer. Is it any wonder, in such a game, that 1,000,000,000 of the great new world control $100,000,000 of the organized capital of America? Is it any wonder that the working classes, the producers of America, the vast army of the common people are waking up to ask themselves whether this competitive game is a huge tragedy or not, based on fundamental injustice, and ending up in vast social oppression of the weak by the strong?

Mr. Wilson will complete his argument tonight and show how socialism will solve the problem.

After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman.
